

Name: _____

The tie has a secret message written in binary digits (8 bits each) which must be translated into decimal and then the decimal must be translated into the appropriate character using ASCII code. The message goes from top to bottom and starts and ends at the solid rectangles. It is repeated a zillion times, so you only need one line.

You can find an ASCII table at

<http://www.ascii.cl/>

What does the tie say?